Engineers Corps Plans Fete Tonight

CPYRGHT

Approximately 125 Corps of Engineer employes in the Charleston District have been invited to attend a "Corps Day Party" today at the Means Clubhouse in St. Andrew's Parish.

Today is the 185th anniversary of the Corps of Engineers, which was born during the American Revolution.

A reception will begin at 7 p.m. A buffet dinner will follow.

Col. J. R. Thompson, district engineer, will make awards to 14 employes.

Receiving sustained, superior performance awards for six months or more of superior performance in one or more of their major duties will be Rene E. Cauette, construction inspector, Charleston Air Force Base resident office; Edward G. Lightle, civil engineer and electrical technician, engineering division, and Mrs. Erma R. Horton, clerk and general stenographer, Charleston Air Force Base resident office.

Thirty year service awards will go to J. Allen Hicks, Joseph A.

Lysaght and Alex St. Amend.

Twenty year awards will go to Miss Charlotte H. Lynah and Hendley M. Saunders.

Ten year awards will go to Arthur D. Cadorath, Evelyn E. Condon, Robert V. Royall, Ransom E. Wiles and Henry M. Wilson.

Earl H. Eubanks will be recognized at the party for an outstanding performance appraisal and award of a sustained superior performance based on a 12 month period. Mr. Eubanks was chief of the supply division and also served as supply and procurements officer. He is now in Washington, D. C., in a Central Intelligence Agency field section at Arlington Farms.

Co-chairmen for the celebration are Mrs. Wilma Adams, Mrs. Helen Evans, Dudley Phillips and Lawrence Kennerty.

The Charleston District, Corps of Engineers, is a part of the Corps' South Atlantic Division, which has headquarters in Atlanta. The district supervises military and civil works projects that total approximately $10 million a year.
